Dr. Reddy's Labs has taken up an initiative to educate young women across colleges in our city, about safety and how it can be observed, especially in today's world, where threat is widespread and can come from anywhere, at any given time. They decided to reach out to us and held a seminar on 10th February, doing a fantastic job of getting important points across, all the while keeping the audience engaged throughout.

Various topics, ranging from sexual harassment and assault to cyberstalking, were covered ,keeping it brief, but giving out tips and tricks to keep ourselves safe from such situations, including how to escape if ever faced with such situations. Each topic was explained with clarity, and to reinforce what was explained, they held a friendly version of KBC, where each team had to answer questions based on the topics explained in a short time interval. Each and every team was super enthusiastic, giving out answers at a fast pace. The trainers were super friendly and engaging, explaining every topic with everlasting patience. The self defence techniques they displayed were practical and very thorough. For students, it truly was a great experience getting to interact with them.
